MEDICAL RECORDS

There are two types of medical records storage and both need to be specified differently:

LIVE - speed of retrieval is crucial and picking rates will be high, therefore more aisles (access routes) are required.

ARCHIVED - these records have a much lower picking rate, therefore storage capacity can be maximised by minimum access routes and using all the available space, including the height.

THEATRE STORAGE

Key items in the Theatre are the medical packs which are both expensive and delicate.

Shelving must be accessible with a smooth finish (no protruding edges) to ensure the valuable packs are not snagged.

GP SURGERIES

GP Surgeries often have very little room for storage and the requirement is usually to store Lloyd George boxes, therefore, our Pirouette Rotary Storage Units are a very popular choice as a single unit can accommodate approximately 2000 Lloyd George wallets and take up less than 1m² in storage space.

DISPENSARY/PHARMACY

These areas are often very fast moving but also allow accurate retrieval. Rackline provide adjustable shelving to accommodate the various sizes and a variety of dividers and drawers to ensure the products are effectively stored. Often baskets and boxes are stored directly on the shelves.

GENERAL STORAGE

Another practical storage method is Fastrak Cabinets which are particularly popular where all units need to be moved to sanitise the area.

We also use a range of stainless steel shelving which is durable and resistant to corrosion, plus easy to clean and ideal for the healthcare environment.
